

through several different Administrations.

His work has made a real difference in the lives of millions of Americans. His legislative and administrative skills have played critical roles in the enactment and implementation of many important bills including the Workforce Investment Act, a 5-year effort which fundamentally reformed the Nation's job training system; the Welfare to Work program, which has helped transition welfare recipients to gainful employment; and the reauthorization of the Older Americans Act, which assists low income seniors earn a paycheck while providing important community services. The passage and administration of each of these acts was due in large part to Ray's personal skills and dedicated efforts to assist in the development of consensus bills that would reflect the Administration's priorities and help Americans in need.

I am also grateful for his help and advice over the years on a range of immigration issues facing the Department of Labor. Ray embraced our immigrant heritage, but also understood the importance of strengthening our immigration laws to ensure they would not be misused by those who sought to bring in immigrants to abuse them with substandard wages and working conditions, and to displace U.S. workers.

These efforts represent only a small fraction of the most recent accomplishments that mark Ray's career at the Department of Labor. His fellow workers in the Department of Labor and throughout the administration will sorely miss his wisdom and guidance, as will State and local workforce development leaders in every corner of the Nation. While I am sad to see Ray leave the civil service, I am happy to know that he is going to become Co-Director of the Workforce Program at the National Center on Education and the Economy, where I look forward to continuing to work with him in the years to come on issues involving workforce development—a crucial social policy area in helping all Americans to become full participants in the economic, social and political life of this great country.●

TRIBUTE TO RICHARD PEMBROKE

● Mr. JEFFORDS. Mr. President, I rise today to congratulate Richard "Dick" Pembroke, Chairman of the Vermont House Transportation Committee, on his 16 years of service to Vermonters in the Legislature.

Dick has decided to retire from politics after a career largely devoted to solving Vermont's transportation problems. And to be sure, he understands the importance of a farsighted and diverse plan to meet Vermonter's transportation needs.

But Dick will be remembered for more than just good transportation policies for routes around Vermont. He was a politician in the finest sense. Bipartisan majorities consistently elected him, giving him the largest numbers of votes in his two-seat district. He rightly considered consensus, negotiation, and compromise as the key ingredients of good politics.

His attitude of cooperation in Montpelier spoke to voters so much, that he never had to spend more than a few dollars on his campaigns. He was repeatedly re-elected because of his exceptional spirit to get important things done. He used the legislative process for the benefit of all and the detriment of none.

His daily work in the Legislature was honest, and he served his district and Vermont to the best of his abilities. As a Vermonter, I would like to thank Dick for his years of service in the State House.

I am sure that his retirement from politics will never keep Dick from calling me to discuss the issues that he thinks I should care about. And if an issue is important to Dick, it should be important to all Vermonters.

My congratulations to Dick, and good luck.●
